ASHLAND, MA

Ashland was incorporated in 1846 known then as "Unionville". With the construction of the railway, Ashland became a bustling mill town with the boot and shoe industry flourishing. In 1916 Henry E. Warren developed the Warren Synchronizing Timer which led to the creation of the first synchronized electric clock. He then founded Telechron and partnered with GE to manufacture electric clocks until 1979. Through the years Ashland has remained a small quaint New England Town with a growing population, active recreation and strong school district.

TOWN BASICS

WELCOME

On behalf of our town government and local officials, I would like to welcome you to the Town of Ashland.

There are many reasons why people choose to move to Ashland. As the heart of the Metrowest Region, we have easy commuter access to both Boston and Worcester markets, but we also have an ever expanding list of employment opportunities both within our town or just across town lines. Our school system is one of the best in Massachusetts, preparing our young adults for life beyond their secondary school years. And with a thousand acres of open space, you will find a wealth of outdoor activities from hiking, to boating, to bouldering in a unique New England environment.

But after a short time here I think you will find why people end up staying here; the people. The people of Ashland have created the quality of life we enjoy today, but they are also deeply engaged in maintaining that quality of life in the future. Whether at neighborhood gatherings, school functions, or one of our many community events, I know that you will agree with me on this observation.

As the popularity of Ashland as a home continues to climb, I know that you will agree that moving here was the right choice. If you ever need assistance, my administration and I are here to help and I encourage you to reach out at any time.

This Guide is funded, in part, by the

Sincerely,
Michael Herbert

For more information, visit:

<https://www.ashlandmass.com/160/Department-of-Public-Works>

WASTE REDUCTION PROGRAM

The Waste Reduction Program is intended to reduce solid waste management costs for households and the town and increase recycling. The Town of Ashland has contracted with Waste Management Inc. to provide curbside rubbish and recycling pickup for residents. The system is based upon the "Pay as you Throw" concept. The more you recycle the lower your costs will be.

Pay-As-You-Throw Bags:

Pay-As-You-Throw orange trash bags are available for purchase at many locations in town (Grocery Stores, Convenience Stores, Liquor Stores) in two different sizes.

Small bags (14 gallon) will be $5.25 per roll of 5 bags.

Large bags (33 gallon) will be $9 per roll of 5 bags.

Each household pays a yearly base fee of $146.

Senior citizens age 65 and over can pay $78.

The Abatement form is available online.

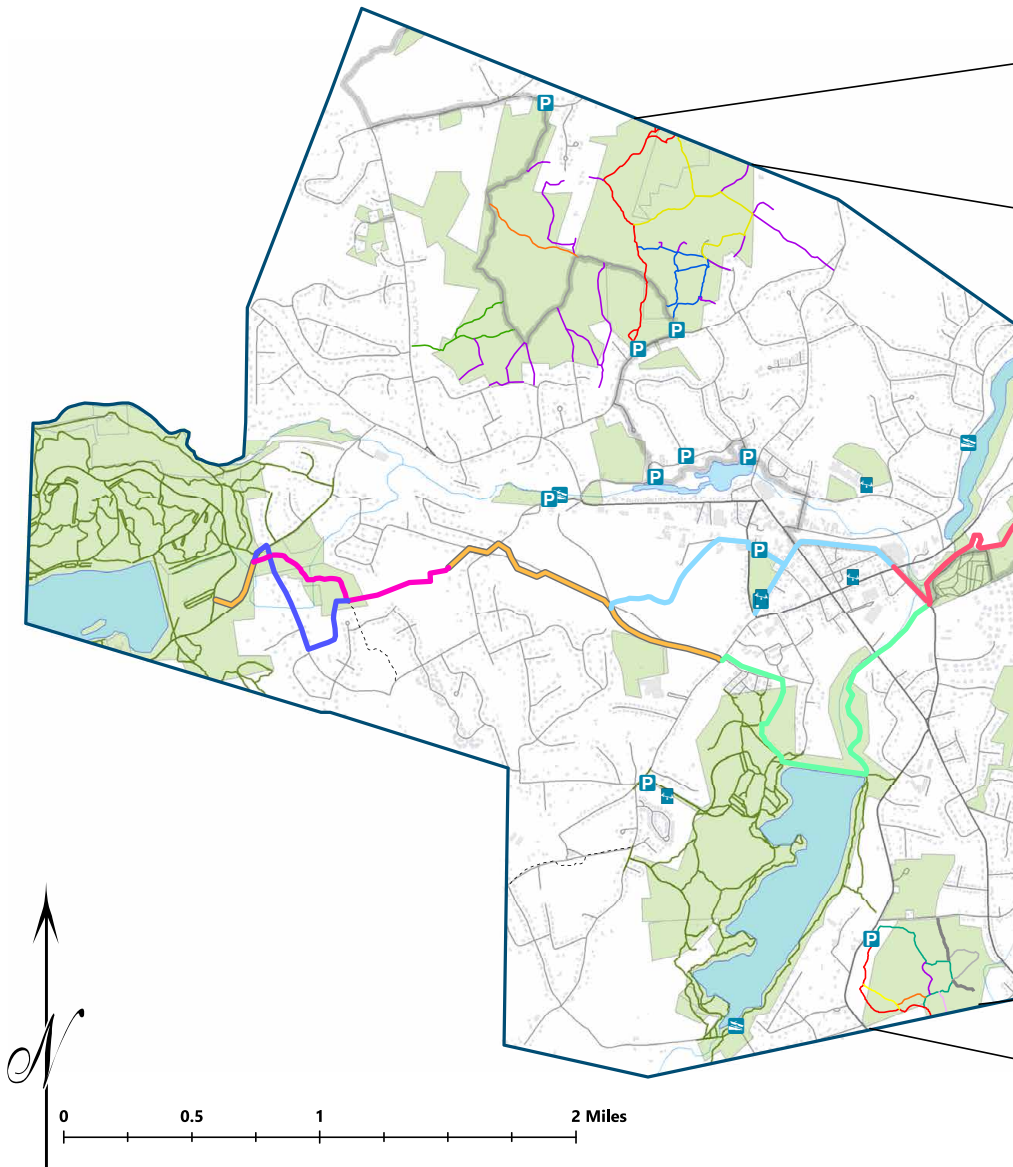

Other Trash Bags:

Other trash will only be picked up if placed in official Town bags. You will still have the ability to dispose of white goods and bulky waste at no extra cost. Hard to dispose of items such as construction materials may seek alternatives such as special rates or off-site disposal alternatives.

Letter from the Superintendent of Schools

Welcome to the Ashland Public Schools where our mission is to provide a safe, engaging, and inclusive learning environment, empowering every student to acquire and develop the necessary skills and knowledge to become active, caring, and passionate life-long learners and citizens in an evolving and diverse world.

Ashland has assembled the most dedicated teaching staff to meet the ever-changing needs of our students. The Ashland Public Schools are fortunate to be supported by the community, financially as well as pedagogically. We are able to honor many of our past traditions but are thoughtful and capable to adjust and create new traditions. I invite you to learn more about our schools by taking tours and visiting with our building based leaders. I know you will come away quite impressed.

Be well,
Jim Adams

Letter from the Economic Development Director

The Town of Ashland is an idyllic, quintessential New England town, nestled along the Framingham /Worcester Commuter Rail Line and a short distance from major routes such as Route 9, I-495 and the Mass Pike. Along with its historic and New England charm, Ashland is home to many businesses from small, family run restaurants to companies working on new and innovative technologies. Ashland is continuously looking for ways to improve its infrastructure, foster local, small businesses and create a business friendly environment. Ashland is a welcoming community for residents and businesses alike. We hope to see you around town!

BUSINESS

LOCAL/REGIONAL PARTNERS

Ashland Business Association

The Ashland Business Association (ABA) is a group of business owners, executives, managers, and employees working together to foster ties between business and community. The ABA is dedicated to increasing profitability and visibility for its members, and to advocating for a positive business environment within the Town of Ashland. The group has experienced business leaders that provide business education and networking programs throughout the year.

MetroWest Chamber of Commerce

The MetroWest Chamber of Commerce, located in Framingham, Massachusetts, is a regional, not-for-profit business association serving more than 500 member organizations ranging from sole proprietorship's and small/mid-tier businesses to Fortune 100 enterprises, municipalities, and not-for-profit organizations in Greater MetroWest region. They provide programming and events for networking and business development, an independent "voice for business" at municipal and state levels, and support for community and economic development within and among the communities they serve.

MetroWest Visitors Bureau

The MetroWest Visitors Bureau is an independent nonprofit organization that markets the region's cultural and recreational venues, retailers, restaurants, accommodations, and educational and other services to visitors and residents alike. These marketing efforts also serve to brand the region, build collaborations across sectors and towns, support jobs-producing enterprises, and make residents and employees proud of where they live and work. The Commonwealth of Massachusetts matches each dollar raised by the Visitors Bureau, which doubles the impact of every revenue source.

495/MetroWest Partnership

As a dedicated public-private association, the 495/MetroWest Partnership is able to address all the sectors of need in the region, and act as an advocacy organization focused on economic development, transportation, and water supply issues that proliferate the 495/MetroWest Corridor. Since the creation of the organization, the Partnership has enjoyed a great variety of successes, and has become recognized by legislators as the true voice for a region crucial to the economy of the Commonwealth.

"When my wife and I began to search for a location for our medical device company in 2003, there were several important criteria we were looking to meet: close proximity to Boston/Worcester, accessibility to public transportation, ability to acquire top talent from universities/colleges, a business-friendly environment and affordable lease options. After an extensive search, we were able to get all of these things in Ashland. We have been in business for fifteen years and still consider Ashland to be the best place to start a business."

-Matt Phaneuf, BioSurfaces, Inc.

"Ashland feels like "home" to us due to the warm reception by the town leadership and the community. Everyone is very supportive of local businesses and takes pride in contributing to their success. We are thrilled to be in Ashland!"
